Know Before You Go

GOOD EFFORT by Londs Reuter

Co-presented by the American Dance Festival and the North Carolina Museum of Art

Friday, April 19 at 7:00 pm

2110 Blue Ridge Road, Raleigh, NC 27607

Directions and Parking

Traffic on I-40 is very heavy during rush hour. Leave early to account for any delays.

Enter the museum at the Reedy Creek Road traffic light. Visitor parking is free and available in the Blue Ridge lot, on the right after the entrance to the museum.

Overflow parking is behind the West Building, on the left after entering the museum drive. Accessible parking areas are available in both lots.

The performance will take place outdoors in the field/hill adjacent to the Volunteer Garden (labeled on the map). There will be a short walk (5–10 minutes) from parking to the performance location behind the amphitheater. Ushers and signage will be available to help you get from the entrance of the amphitheater to the performance location.

Performance

The performance will begin promptly at 7:00 pm.

Run Time: 45–50 minutes, no intermission

Seating is on the lawn. Please bring your chair or blanket if preferred. Very limited chairs will be available.

The digital program can be accessed here, via our website, or through QR codes at the venue. Audio description will be available.

Public restrooms are available near the amphitheater.

There will be approximately 20 minutes of twilight after the performance. Plan your travel to your car accordingly.

Merchandise

Londs Reuter will have pennants available to purchase at a table nearby the performance location as well as FREE zines. ADF 2024 season tees—hot off the press—will also be for sale!

We encourage you to arrive early and fully enjoy the evening! Feel free to bring a picnic, explore the grounds, and mingle with other patrons.
